

Movin' on Up!

Helping today's high school students become tomorrow's college students

Movin' on Up is an initiative of the Learning Resources Center (LRC) at Southern State Community College that seeks to ease student transitions as they move on up from high school to college

Program Objectives

- To instruct students in information literacy skills helpful for college preparation and successful transition from high school to college
- To promote positive student attitudes about academic libraries.
- To contribute to the immediate success of students in completing research assignments at the high school level
- To create cooperation between high school teachers, school librarians, and college library staff
- To promote Southern State Community College and higher education

Plan a visit to campus

The LRC invites area school librarians and teachers to plan campus visits at any of our four campus locations. Campus trips can be arranged by contacting the librarian, Louis Mays. Arrangements will be made for use of a computer or mobile laptop lab. Your students will work with our resources and library staff to become familiar with information literacy and college expectations. Courtesy cards will be provided to each student.

Schedule your visit

Place your request today. The sooner the better. The librarian will help you complete a facility request and will confirm the visit with the library staff. Catering is available for lunch if requested. We will move forward with scheduling as soon as possible.

Can't do a campus visit?

Arrangements can be made for the college librarian to visit your high school. Access to a computer lab and projector is required for a session on the high school site. Please contact:
